

Policy 4-18: Building Security

Card access to the Architecture Building and Field House during normal building closure times is a privilege extended to college faculty, students, and staff to facilitate their various academic pursuits. Access privileges are dependent on compliance with the following conditions:

- Card holders will not loan their cards to anyone.
- Card holders who lose their cards will notify their department of that fact immediately.
- Card holders will abide by all security rules of the College, including keeping locked doors locked and latched at all times.

Card holders who fail to satisfy these conditions will have their access privileges revoked and may face disciplinary action under the university regulations governing student, staff, and faculty misconduct.